

EFLM CARDIAC MARKER AWARD for remarkable scientific work in the field of cardiovascular diseases sponsored by HyTest

EFLM is very pleased of the collaboration with HyTest for this Award through which we intend to achieve wider recognition of the importance of high-quality research in the field of cardiac markers among laboratory professionals in Europe.

EFLM is pleased to announce the “EFLM Cardiac Marker Award for remarkable scientific work in the field of cardiovascular diseases - sponsored by HyTest”. The Award is given to the best published paper, as judged by an independent panel of experts, which demonstrates a remarkable scientific work in the field of cardiovascular diseases. The Award, consisting of a certificate and a sum of 5,000 Euro, will be presented at the 25th IFCC-EFLM EuroMedLab Congress in Rome (21 - 25 May 2023). The Award will be presented to the first author, who is responsible for division of the award among his/her co-authors.

Eligibility criteria:

- applicants must be young scientists under 40 years of age;
- the submitting author must be the first author of the paper and from a National Society Full Member of EFLM. The author is limited to one submission only;
- entries must be published studies demonstrating remarkable scientific work in the field of cardiovascular diseases. Only original research articles are eligible;
- entries must have been published or accepted for publication between 1 January 2022 – 15 January 2023 and must be published in English in a peer-reviewed medical, scientific or health economics journal;
- all authors of the publication have to agree on the submission of the paper for the Award and to the conditions of entry.

Submission procedure:

Applications must be submitted by first author of the paper and must be accompanied by:

- Reprint of the publication or (in the case of publications in press), a manuscript copy and a copy of the journal Editor’s letter indicating the final acceptance for publication;
- Short CV of the submitting author;
- Document proving membership to an EFLM Full Member National Society;
- Copy of the ID proving the age of the applicant;
- Statement signed by all authors of the publication consenting to submission of the paper for the Award and to the conditions of entry.

In accordance with the EFLM Transparency Policy, all award applicants’ names, evaluation ranking and reasons for that ranking will be made available to every award applicant.

Applications should be submitted via e-mail to EFLM at eflm@eflm.eu by 15 January 2023